			AGGRAV MENACING
Euclid police officers responded to a residential home after a reporting party advised that her ex-boyfriend entered her house and would not leave. After arriving, Euclid police officers spoke to both involved persons, as well as some other individuals who were present at the residence. Statements given to police on scene were conflicting, and both persons directly involved alleged that they had been assaulted by the other. The reporting party also alleged that she was a victim of aggravated menacing due to her ex-boyfriend presenting a knife during the conflict. No primary physical aggressor was able to be determined on scene. A police report was completed and forwarded to the City of Euclid Prosecutor's Office for further review.
