7189C PROPERTY DAMAGE

Police responded to a residence in regard to a welfare check for a husband and wife. While en route, dispatch advised police that the husband made a comment, via text, that he "is going to jail for a long time" and "Loves everyone". Additionally, there was a previous call to that residence, recently, for a domestic violence incident where the wife allegedly hit her husband with a pistol. After police repeatedly knocked and called the residents, to no avail, police heard on three separate occasions what sounded to be a soft moan or crying. Police notified the officer in charge of the situation and asked for permission to force entry into the home, which was granted. Once inside, police cleared the residence and discovered that the wife was the only one home and found okay. The female was thankful for police checking on her and a report was created for the incident.
